

ANZAC Awards

In its desire to honour those who serve in peace as well as perpetuating the memory and gallantry of those who served in war, The Returned & Services League of Australia has established a series of national honours – the ANZAC Awards.

Award Criteria

The ANZAC Peace Prize, announced annually, is awarded by the RSL to 'recognise any outstanding effort by an Australian citizen who has promoted the concept of international understanding and who, in so doing, has made a contribution to world peace.'

Eligibility: Any Australian citizen, or one who has made an application to become an Australian citizen. The Prize will recognise the efforts of ordinary people. Those recognised will be average Australians who in some special and dedicated manner have made a real contribution to international peace and goodwill. The Prize may also be granted to individuals and groups who collectively have achieved this aim.

The Award: The Prize itself is a silver medallion, struck by the Perth Mint, depicting the legendary 'Simpson' of Gallipoli and his donkey, presented in a specially designed presentation case. The Medallion is accompanied by a miniature silver lapel badge and a certificate setting out the nature of the Prize and the citation on which the award was given.

Presentation: The Prize is normally presented in conjunction with the RSL's National Conference.

The ANZAC of the Year Awards are made annually 'to recognise the efforts and achievements of up to seven Australians who have given service to their fellow Australians and to the community in a positive, selfless and compassionate manner.'

Eligibility: Nominations may be made on behalf of any Australian citizen, or one who has made an application to become an Australian citizen. The awards may be made to individuals or groups who have demonstrated the spirit of comradeship and selfless service embodied in the tradition of ANZAC.

The Award: The Awards are bronze medallions depicting 'Simpson' of Gallipoli and his donkey, and are presented in a specially designed presentation case. The Medallion is accompanied by a miniature bronze lapel badge for everyday wear and a certificate setting out the nature of the Award and the citation on which the award was given.

How and When to Nominate

Judging Panels

Selection panels are established in each State Branch. Each State Chairman is the President of the State RSL Branch who with four other leading members of the community forms the state panel.

The State Branch nominations are referred to a National Committee comprising the National President and the National Secretary of the RSL, the Official Secretary to the Governor-General of Australia, the Assistant Secretary of the Honours & Awards Branch of the Department of Prime Minister & Cabinet and two other leading members of the community appointed by the National Headquarters of the RSL, who bring to the task a wide ranging expertise in their own fields of endeavour.

For Australians by Australians

With a membership in excess of 170,000 with additional membership within the Women's Auxiliary the RSL occupies a unique position to reach into the community at large.

With some 1400 Sub Branches throughout Australia, many of which form a focal point of the community activity in their town or suburb, the League believes it can reach and honour those Australians whose work for others typifies so closely to the spirit and traditions of ANZAC yet who often go unrewarded.

These awards are designed so that those men and women amongst us can be recognised and honoured at a national level based on the recognition and nomination both of members of the RSL and also those within the community at large of which the RSL is such a major and visible part.

Announcement of Awards

The names of the recipients of the ANZAC Peace Prize and the ANZAC of the Year Awards are announced immediately prior to ANZAC Day of each year.

CITATION

Please attach a citation with full details of the reason for the nomination which should reference the qualities displayed which warrant the nomination.

A single typed A4 page (or the equivalent handwritten) would be considered the minimum requirement. A chronological list of activities/appointments is insufficient, but important dates should be incorporated into the citation. Advice as to whether the service has been paid employment or unpaid voluntary is also important.

References from at least one and preferably three other supporting persons is essential, particularly when the nominator is closely related to the nominee. Those from public figures (e.g. local members of Parliament, presidents of clubs, local council personages) are ideal.
